

EL

How do we curate the writing in Natasha?

ER

We commission two pieces per issue. We ask the writers for a summary of their research interests and tailor a question, something slightly outside of their expertise. They answer the question by doing new, experimental research, which culminates in the essay.